

NOTABLE DEATHS DURING THE YEAR

Over 250 Men and Women, Foremost in Their Varied Callings, Passed Away.

IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE

Every Nation Suffers Loss of Some of Its Most Distinguished and Honored Subjects.

The necrology of the year just closed bears the names of 262 men and women, foremost in their varied callings, whose places in the work of the world it will be hard to fill.

With war and assassination to assist him, accident and suicide and illness to further his ends, death has in 1904 reaped a notable harvest. As the months have passed that made up the year which has just closed, from one nation and then another has been called behind the scenes some figure which had stood well to the center of her stage; now this profession and now that craft has seen its work laid by forever, as some foremost disciple has passed across into the great beyond.

From the venerable general, Longstreet and Gordon, and of that Prince who had linked the name of the first Napoleon with greatest history, on through the career of Cardinal Mocenigo and President Brown of Lehigh University, and "Val" Prinsep, the artist in the twelve months' closing days, a roll of world-known names has been forming, which now totals at 262.

There is real loss in the passing of such men as Henry M. Stanley, Lafcadio Hearn, William Vernon-Harcourt, Count Von Waldsee, Pierre de Valde-Ronsard, Antoni Dvorak, George Frederick Watts, Mauris Jokai, William C. Whitney and George F. Warren.

Surely no man but has heard the cold sound of the scythe of the grim reaper, announcing the ensuance from the roster of the living of some name now ancient in history, now, now, though honorable, in the doings of to-day. In this country there have been 122 such deaths, with sixty in England and an even score in Germany, France has lost sixteen, Russia and Austria ten each, and Italy four.

One finds three Japanese names on the long roll, two Spanish, three British, and three Danish, while Canada and the United States of Columbia, Venezuela and Porto Turky and Poland, South Africa and the Ionian Islands, at least one of the country's foremost citizens has been carried to his last, long rest.

Monarchs of Title.

Loss has come to every walk of life, if one considers royalty and nobility, there is Duke Frederick of Anhalt, who, with seventy titles following his name, was the last to die.

He was the last to die, which comes first in Europe's Almanac de Gotha; or the Duke of Cambridge, a grandson of George III, of England; or Isabella, of Spain, who reigned thirty-eight years and then spent thirty-six in exile, Spain, too, has lost the Infanta Maria, the sister of the present monarch of the peninsula, who ruled six months in her own right before the coming of Alfonso. Murat, King of Naples, is yet another of the titled dead, though he ruled scarcely a dozen drunken months before his twenty-eight years of imprisonment were thrust upon him.

What men of affairs have died? Levi Z. Leder of Chicago; W. J. Lamp of St. Louis; Edward W. Clark of Philadelphia; Henry W. Oliver of Pittsburgh; James J. Belden of Syracuse; W. R. Grace and Ashbel P. Finch, of New York, and more than a dozen others, though these seven names alone represented twenty-five million dollars and the widest of commercial and public interests.

From various fields of diplomacy and politics death has called Paul Kruger, Postmaster-General Payne, Senators Quay and Vest, "Golden Rule" Jones of Toledo; Mayor Robert McNamee of Baltimore; President Candamo, of Peru; the Russians, de Pleske and von Plevy, and eight former Governors of sovereign States of this republic—Bushnell and Nash, of Ohio; Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Lewis, of Wisconsin; Cornell, of New York; Kinkaid, of Alaska; Lounsbury, of Connecticut, and Thompson, of South Carolina.

The Protestant Episcopal Church has been deprived since January of the services of Bishop Huntington and Dudley, the Bishop of England of Dean Hole and Bishop MacKenzie, prelate of all Canada. The oldest priest in the Roman Catholic faith in America, Archbishop Elder, died in November, and John A. Seiss, "the Grand Old Man of Lutheranism," in June.

So might one run through the dead roll. Not a vocation through which men help to do the world's work but would be found the poorer—General Thomas and Ruggles, in the army; Vice-Admirals Makarov and Witte, in the navy; Kirk and von Holte, and Edwin Arnold and Samuel May Williams, in literature; Parke Godwin and John Hollingshead, in journalism; Mrs. Gilbert and Janaujachek, in the drama; Theodore Herzl and Edna Dow Cheyney, in philanthropy. The complete lists follow:

Royalty and Nobility, 14.

Princess Mathilde Bonaparte, The Duke of Cambridge, Count Joachim Murat, Princess Sophie of Lipps, Frederick of Anhalt, Duchess of Alba, Isabella II of Spain, Former Sultan Murad, Princess of Saxe-Weimar, Infanta Maria of Spain, Princess Mary of Baden.

CARD OF THANKS.

The ladies of the German Aid Society wish to return their thanks to the following friends for donations:

Mrs. P. Zimmerman, Mrs. Henry Grimmel, Mrs. D. Schmid, Mrs. Ph. Bergheimer, Mrs. Charles Gasser, R. L. Christian and Company, Mrs. Kasten, Mr. E. Jurgens, Mrs. H. Boshen, Mrs. F. Grimmel, Mrs. G. C. Dietrich, Jr., Mrs. A. Fettig, Mrs. Thillow, Mrs. Charles Dietrich, Mrs. James Biley, Mrs. J. W. Rother, Mrs. Luchert, Mrs. Bernhard Brauer, Mrs. Christian Schaaf, B. Brauer, Son and Company, Mrs. A. Hartung, Mrs. Kinck, Mrs. Bernhard, Mrs. John Kohler, Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Thiken, Mrs. Baader, Mrs. Oscar Franz, Mrs. Fred Brauer, Mrs. Ledy, Mrs. M. Schaaf, Mrs. Enders, Mrs. C. Hassel, Mrs. C. Sauer, Mrs. F. Wenzel, Mrs. Werner, Mrs. George Delrich, Mrs. Charles Metzger, Mrs. H. Hassel, Mr. John Brauer, Mrs. C. L. Miller, Mrs. Fleck, Mr. L. Brown, Mrs. C. Wippermann, Mrs. J. Kratz, Mr. S. Hassel, Mr. William H. Zimmermann, Mr. C. Hassel.

ROYALTY AND NOBILITY.

Thomas Underwood Dudley, The Rev. (The Earl of Devon), Joseph A. Seiss, Monsignor Guidi, Bishop Riding (Southwell), George C. Lorimer, Bishop Verhogen, Dr. B. F. DaCosta, Robert Machray, Cardinal Cetesla, Byron Alden, Frederick D. Huntington, Dean Hole (Rochester), Bishop H. N. Charlton (Nassau), Archbishop Elder, Cardinal Mocenigo.

PHILANTHROPY, 10.

Colonel A. E. W. Goldsmith, Theodore Herzl, Louis Fleischmann, Benjamin Perkins, James B. Colgate, Dr. William Latham, Victor Benke, Dr. Hermann Baer, Sir Henry Stephenson, Edmund Dew Cheyney.

EDUCATION, 14.

Dean Francis Wayland, Lord Braybrook, Professor C. E. Beecher, James Warren Sunderland, Professor C. W. Shields, Professor Daniel Fliske, President Thomas N. Brown, Karl von Zittel, Provost George Salmon, Alexander S. Murray, Dr. Lemuel Moss, Professor George Pirie, Dr. Samuel Curtis, Professor W. M. Paxton.

SCIENCE, 22.

Ferdinand von Münchhausen, Emil A. de Schweinitz, Sir Henry Slovinsky, Sir Henry Thompson, Etienne Jules Muys, Dr. Isaac Roberts, Professor Anton Drasche, Jacob H. Studer, Professor Friedrich Ratzel, Sir Frederick Bateman, Benjamin F. Everhart, Rufus Blanchard, James P. Lee, Henry Penotin, Henry M. Stanley, F. W. Matheson, Dr. A. Phillip, Dr. W. A. Pryor, Joseph Walker, Sir William Banks, Sir John Simon, Nolla Finsen.

ART, 18.

Jean Leon Gerome, Joseph Hoffman, Erskine Nicol.

We have done our best to please you in 1904. We'll try to do "the same, only more so," in 1905. A Happy New Year, and many of 'em.

Sincerely yours,
C. LUMSDEN & SON.

NOTABLE DEATHS DURING THE YEAR

Over 250 Men and Women, Foremost in Their Varied Callings, Passed Away.

IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE

Every Nation Suffers Loss of Some of Its Most Distinguished and Honored Subjects.

The necrology of the year just closed bears the names of 262 men and women, foremost in their varied callings, whose places in the work of the world it will be hard to fill.

With war and assassination to assist him, accident and suicide and illness to further his ends, death has in 1904 reaped a notable harvest. As the months have passed that made up the year which has just closed, from one nation and then another has been called behind the scenes some figure which had stood well to the center of her stage; now this profession and now that craft has seen its work laid by forever, as some foremost disciple has passed across into the great beyond.

From the venerable general, Longstreet and Gordon, and of that Prince who had linked the name of the first Napoleon with greatest history, on through the career of Cardinal Mocenigo and President Brown of Lehigh University, and "Val" Prinsep, the artist in the twelve months' closing days, a roll of world-known names has been forming, which now totals at 262.

There is real loss in the passing of such men as Henry M. Stanley, Lafcadio Hearn, William Vernon-Harcourt, Count Von Waldsee, Pierre de Valde-Ronsard, Antoni Dvorak, George Frederick Watts, Mauris Jokai, William C. Whitney and George F. Warren.

Surely no man but has heard the cold sound of the scythe of the grim reaper, announcing the ensuance from the roster of the living of some name now ancient in history, now, now, though honorable, in the doings of to-day. In this country there have been 122 such deaths, with sixty in England and an even score in Germany, France has lost sixteen, Russia and Austria ten each, and Italy four.

One finds three Japanese names on the long roll, two Spanish, three British, and three Danish, while Canada and the United States of Columbia, Venezuela and Porto Turky and Poland, South Africa and the Ionian Islands, at least one of the country's foremost citizens has been carried to his last, long rest.

Scared at first, but has heard the cold sound of the scythe of the grim reaper, announcing the ensuance from the roster of the living of some name now ancient in history, now, now, though honorable, in the doings of to-day. In this country there have been 122 such deaths, with sixty in England and an even score in Germany, France has lost sixteen, Russia and Austria ten each, and Italy four.

One finds three Japanese names on the long roll, two Spanish, three British, and three Danish, while Canada and the United States of Columbia, Venezuela and Porto Turky and Poland, South Africa and the Ionian Islands, at least one of the country's foremost citizens has been carried to his last, long rest.

Monarchs of Title.

Loss has come to every walk of life, if one considers royalty and nobility, there is Duke Frederick of Anhalt, who, with seventy titles following his name, was the last to die.

He was the last to die, which comes first in Europe's Almanac de Gotha; or the Duke of Cambridge, a grandson of George III, of England; or Isabella, of Spain, who reigned thirty-eight years and then spent thirty-six in exile, Spain, too, has lost the Infanta Maria, the sister of the present monarch of the peninsula, who ruled six months in her own right before the coming of Alfonso. Murat, King of Naples, is yet another of the titled dead, though he ruled scarcely a dozen drunken months before his twenty-eight years of imprisonment were thrust upon him.

What men of affairs have died? Levi Z. Leder of Chicago; W. J. Lamp of St. Louis; Edward W. Clark of Philadelphia; Henry W. Oliver of Pittsburgh; James J. Belden of Syracuse; W. R. Grace and Ashbel P. Finch, of New York, and more than a dozen others, though these seven names alone represented twenty-five million dollars and the widest of commercial and public interests.

From various fields of diplomacy and politics death has called Paul Kruger, Postmaster-General Payne, Senators Quay and Vest, "Golden Rule" Jones of Toledo; Mayor Robert McNamee of Baltimore; President Candamo, of Peru; the Russians, de Pleske and von Plevy, and eight former Governors of sovereign States of this republic—Bushnell and Nash, of Ohio; Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Lewis, of Wisconsin; Cornell, of New York; Kinkaid, of Alaska; Lounsbury, of Connecticut, and Thompson, of South Carolina.

The Protestant Episcopal Church has been deprived since January of the services of Bishop Huntington and Dudley, the Bishop of England of Dean Hole and Bishop MacKenzie, prelate of all Canada. The oldest priest in the Roman Catholic faith in America, Archbishop Elder, died in November, and John A. Seiss, "the Grand Old Man of Lutheranism," in June.

So might one run through the dead roll. Not a vocation through which men help to do the world's work but would be found the poorer—General Thomas and Ruggles, in the army; Vice-Admirals Makarov and Witte, in the navy; Kirk and von Holte, and Edwin Arnold and Samuel May Williams, in literature; Parke Godwin and John Hollingshead, in journalism; Mrs. Gilbert and Janaujachek, in the drama; Theodore Herzl and Edna Dow Cheyney, in philanthropy. The complete lists follow:

Royalty and Nobility, 14.

Princess Mathilde Bonaparte, The Duke of Cambridge, Count Joachim Murat, Princess Sophie of Lipps, Frederick of Anhalt, Duchess of Alba, Isabella II of Spain, Former Sultan Murad, Princess of Saxe-Weimar, Infanta Maria of Spain, Princess Mary of Baden.

CARD OF THANKS.

The ladies of the German Aid Society wish to return their thanks to the following friends for donations:

Mrs. P. Zimmerman, Mrs. Henry Grimmel, Mrs. D. Schmid, Mrs. Ph. Bergheimer, Mrs. Charles Gasser, R. L. Christian and Company, Mrs. Kasten, Mr. E. Jurgens, Mrs. H. Boshen, Mrs. F. Grimmel, Mrs. G. C. Dietrich, Jr., Mrs. A. Fettig, Mrs. Thillow, Mrs. Charles Dietrich, Mrs. James Biley, Mrs. J. W. Rother, Mrs. Luchert, Mrs. Bernhard Brauer, Mrs. Christian Schaaf, B. Brauer, Son and Company, Mrs. A. Hartung, Mrs. Kinck, Mrs. Bernhard, Mrs. John Kohler, Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Thiken, Mrs. Baader, Mrs. Oscar Franz, Mrs. Fred Brauer, Mrs. Ledy, Mrs. M. Schaaf, Mrs. Enders, Mrs. C. Hassel, Mrs. C. Sauer, Mrs. F. Wenzel, Mrs. Werner, Mrs. George Delrich, Mrs. Charles Metzger, Mrs. H. Hassel, Mr. John Brauer, Mrs. C. L. Miller, Mrs. Fleck, Mr. L. Brown, Mrs. C. Wippermann, Mrs. J. Kratz, Mr. S. Hassel, Mr. William H. Zimmermann, Mr. C. Hassel.

ROYALTY AND NOBILITY.

Thomas Underwood Dudley, The Rev. (The Earl of Devon), Joseph A. Seiss, Monsignor Guidi, Bishop Riding (Southwell), George C. Lorimer, Bishop Verhogen, Dr. B. F. DaCosta, Robert Machray, Cardinal Cetesla, Byron Alden, Frederick D. Huntington, Dean Hole (Rochester), Bishop H. N. Charlton (Nassau), Archbishop Elder, Cardinal Mocenigo.

EDUCATION, 14.

Dean Francis Wayland, Lord Braybrook, Professor C. E. Beecher, James Warren Sunderland, Professor C. W. Shields, Professor Daniel Fliske, President Thomas N. Brown, Karl von Zittel, Provost George Salmon, Alexander S. Murray, Dr. Lemuel Moss, Professor George Pirie, Dr. Samuel Curtis, Professor W. M. Paxton.

SCIENCE, 22.

Ferdinand von Münchhausen, Emil A. de Schweinitz, Sir Henry Slovinsky, Sir Henry Thompson, Etienne Jules Muys, Dr. Isaac Roberts, Professor Anton Drasche, Jacob H. Studer, Professor Friedrich Ratzel, Sir Frederick Bateman, Benjamin F. Everhart, Rufus Blanchard, James P. Lee, Henry Penotin, Henry M. Stanley, F. W. Matheson, Dr. A. Phillip, Dr. W. A. Pryor, Joseph Walker, Sir William Banks, Sir John Simon, Nolla Finsen.

ART, 18.

Jean Leon Gerome, Joseph Hoffman, Erskine Nicol.

NOTABLE DEATHS DURING THE YEAR

Over 250 Men and Women, Foremost in Their Varied Callings, Passed Away.

IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE

Every Nation Suffers Loss of Some of Its Most Distinguished and Honored Subjects.

The necrology of the year just closed bears the names of 262 men and women, foremost in their varied callings, whose places in the work of the world it will be hard to fill.

With war and assassination to assist him, accident and suicide and illness to further his ends, death has in 1904 reaped a notable harvest. As the months have passed that made up the year which has just closed, from one nation and then another has been called behind the scenes some figure which had stood well to the center of her stage; now this profession and now that craft has seen its work laid by forever, as some foremost disciple has passed across into the great beyond.

From the venerable general, Longstreet and Gordon, and of that Prince who had linked the name of the first Napoleon with greatest history, on through the career of Cardinal Mocenigo and President Brown of Lehigh University, and "Val" Prinsep, the artist in the twelve months' closing days, a roll of world-known names has been forming, which now totals at 262.

There is real loss in the passing of such men as Henry M. Stanley, Lafcadio Hearn, William Vernon-Harcourt, Count Von Waldsee, Pierre de Valde-Ronsard, Antoni Dvorak, George Frederick Watts, Mauris Jokai, William C. Whitney and George F. Warren.

Surely no man but has heard the cold sound of the scythe of the grim reaper, announcing the ensuance from the roster of the living of some name now ancient in history, now, now, though honorable, in the doings of to-day. In this country there have been 122 such deaths, with sixty in England and an even score in Germany, France has lost sixteen, Russia and Austria ten each, and Italy four.

One finds three Japanese names on the long roll, two Spanish, three British, and three Danish, while Canada and the United States of Columbia, Venezuela and Porto Turky and Poland, South Africa and the Ionian Islands, at least one of the country's foremost citizens has been carried to his last, long rest.

Scared at first, but has heard the cold sound of the scythe of the grim reaper, announcing the ensuance from the roster of the living of some name now ancient in history, now, now, though honorable, in the doings of to-day. In this country there have been 122 such deaths, with sixty in England and an even score in Germany, France has lost sixteen, Russia and Austria ten each, and Italy four.

One finds three Japanese names on the long roll, two Spanish, three British, and three Danish, while Canada and the United States of Columbia, Venezuela and Porto Turky and Poland, South Africa and the Ionian Islands, at least one of the country's foremost citizens has been carried to his last, long rest.

Monarchs of Title.

Loss has come to every walk of life, if one considers royalty and nobility, there is Duke Frederick of Anhalt, who, with seventy titles following his name, was the last to die.

He was the last to die, which comes first in Europe's Almanac de Gotha; or the Duke of Cambridge, a grandson of George III, of England; or Isabella, of Spain, who reigned thirty-eight years and then spent thirty-six in exile, Spain, too, has lost the Infanta Maria, the sister of the present monarch of the peninsula, who ruled six months in her own right before the coming of Alfonso. Murat, King of Naples, is yet another of the titled dead, though he ruled scarcely a dozen drunken months before his twenty-eight years of imprisonment were thrust upon him.

What men of affairs have died? Levi Z. Leder of Chicago; W. J. Lamp of St. Louis; Edward W. Clark of Philadelphia; Henry W. Oliver of Pittsburgh; James J. Belden of Syracuse; W. R. Grace and Ashbel P. Finch, of New York, and more than a dozen others, though these seven names alone represented twenty-five million dollars and the widest of commercial and public interests.

From various fields of diplomacy and politics death has called Paul Kruger, Postmaster-General Payne, Senators Quay and Vest, "Golden Rule" Jones of Toledo; Mayor Robert McNamee of Baltimore; President Candamo, of Peru; the Russians, de Pleske and von Plevy, and eight former Governors of sovereign States of this republic—Bushnell and Nash, of Ohio; Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Lewis, of Wisconsin; Cornell, of New York; Kinkaid, of Alaska; Lounsbury, of Connecticut, and Thompson, of South Carolina.